Jennifer Mills and Becky Bickford

Jennifer and Becky share a deep passion for living, celebrating, and loving the Ecstatic Life. Their shared journey as soul sisters was rekindled in this lifetime during a seasonal retreat hosted by one of their dearest soul brothers, Jim Donovan. The two found immediate resonance with one another and since then have fostered a friendship based on creating, nourishing, and sustaining sacred healing relationships with all whom they encounter.

They focus their passions of dance, yoga, energy work, writing, meditation, spirituality, and the healing arts to help themselves and others feel joyous, vibrant, and absolutely radiant as these characteristics are our birthrights traveling the earth plane during this very special time. Becky and Jennifer live in Ohio and New York respectively and share a private holistic healing practice based in Oberlin, OH with Dr. Harry Pepper.
